BUILDING A WRECK

Royal School Unfit For Occupation.

IT CANNOT BE REPAIRED

The Classes Will Probably be Housed in the Aala Warehouse.

The old Royal School building is a tottering ruin. If occupied it might fall about the heads of the children any day.
It has been condemned as a wreck, and will not be used as a school again. It cannot be repaired even, and will be torn down and a new structure put up on the site. At the Governor's conference yesterday Superintendent of Public Works McCandless presented the following report:

Bureau of Public Works, Honolulu, H. I., June 27, 1900.
Hon. J. A. McCandless, Superintendent of Public Works.

Sir: We, the undersigned members of the committee appointed by you to inspect the condition of the building known as the Royal School, on Emma street, beg leave to report as follows: We find the coral walls of the building to be many inches out of plumb; that they are very poor; are cracked, crumbling and not of sufficient strength to safely support themselves or the wooden building which rests upon them.

We regard these walls as dangerous, and, while it is possible that they might stand a few years in their present condition, it is true that they are liable to collapse at any time when some settlement or war or strain comes upon them. And this is most likely to occur when the building is filled with school children.

We would urge that the building be not used for any purpose in its present condition. We would further say that we do not believe that it is possible to so repair or strengthen the present building that it would be suitable for use.

Very respectfully submitted,
W. E. ROWELL,
C. B. RIPLEY,
JOHN OUDERKIRK.

Superintendent of Instruction Atkinson suggested that Aala warehouse be made a temporary home for the Royal School children when their classes resume. He said that it could be made a comfortable place for the time being until a more suitable building was obtained. It is roomy and well lighted and the classes that have occupied the five rooms of the Royal building can be accommodated.

The Governor's conference said that it would be well to ask the Board of Health for permission to use the Aala warehouse. There will be ample space for playgrounds about the warehouse. An appropriation for the Royal School's rebuilding was made by the Council of State. Out of the loan fund $75,000 was given, but the money cannot be expended because it is not available. From the loan fund on March 31 the expenditures were $30,749, which, with the sewerage contract, $94,253, makes a total of $125,- 002.

Only $75,000 is available of the loan fund, from which, if $94,253 is deducted, there is but $102,988. The Council of State made appropriations of over a million dollars and about that sum is lacking, so that there is no chance for the Royal School's building.

SAILORS ASHORE.

Find That Working Sugar is No Easy Job.

Many of the sailors in port who have been holding out for unusually high wages and refusing opportunities to ship from here to the Coast and on longer voyages are now engaged in handling sugar as stevedores. A number of them were complaining yesterday that handling heavy bags of sugar was harder work than they were accustomed to on board ship. The old hands were laughing at them and having a great deal of fun at their expense.
The probabilities are that some of these amateur sugar tossers will apply the first of next week to ship captains for chances to go to sea.

For some strange reason, Lewis and Turk were unusually happy all day yesterday. They had a pleasant word for everybody, and it is said that they have secured a good contract with a well known ship captain to supply him with men. This captain, it is said, was determined not to have anything to do with shipping masters, but has since changed his mind for some mysterious reason.

Robert Toombs, who was a leading member of the Confederate Congress in 1861, always tried to impress people with the belief that his genius made him equal to any emergency. Even when he studied hard, or availed himself of the labor of others, he encouraged the idea that his most splendid efforts were the result of the inspiration of the moment, entirely off hand, without any special preparation for the occasion. Once, when a very important debate was going on in the Federal Congress, Toombs made a magnificent speech which attracted everybody's attention. It was not only an eloquent speech, but it was remarkable for its masterly array of facts and figures and its convincing arguments. "You must have devoted considerable time to its preparation," said one of the statesman's admirers. "Well, I gave about two hours to it," Toombs replied, with a careless, indifferent air. Some one repeated this to Alexander Hamilton Stephens, who was at that time vice-president of the Confederacy, and he exclaimed, somewhat irritably:
"Two hours? Prepared that speech in two hours, did he? Why I spent two weeks on it myself." Stephens had patiently and laboriously collected the statistics, and Toombs had merely added the flourishes.

"Yes," said the young woman, "I find books in the running brooks." "Well," said Farmer Cortosel, "them summer boarders littered the place up terrible with them trashy novels last year.
Me an' ma done the best we could to burn 'em all in the cook stove, but they do seem to keep turnin' up."—Wash-
